THE LATEST GOSSIP IN SPORTING CIRCLES

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 6.—Among the criticisms made recently by the basketball committee of the Pacific Athletic association of the Amateur Athletic union, which believes, according to its chairman, Herbert Haizer, that no further tournaments should be held under its sanction, is that of unethical avoidance of the weight limit rules.

Among the preparatory schools, in almost every branch of sport, competitors are divided into divisions governed by weight limits. Basketball authorities are not alone in making the assertion that this system has been considerably abused in the past. It has been claimed that in order to win an event, say in the 110 pound class, boys weighing considerably over this limit have subjected themselves to a system of training for reducing which is claimed to be injurious to them. They have then weighed in under the limit. Later they have regained their normal weight and thus obviously are entered in a class to which they do not belong and are unfairly competing with smaller boys legitimately entitled to competition under the 110 pound limit.

That the system is faulty for this reason has been conceded, and the matter has been discussed in the past. It is considered not unlikely that with the basketball committee again calling attention to these facts, steps will be taken to again seriously investigate the conditions, the twofold evil of possible injury to the boy and its manifest unfairness.

Notwithstanding the fact that the authorities have permitted professional boxers to appear in local rings despite the law recently passed prohibiting the holding of these affairs, the quality of these bouts has been so inferior that ring followers lately have been turning their attention to the wrestling game as a substitute.

Ad Santel, a light heavyweight, has built up a considerable reputation for himself locally in the last six months, during which time he has not met with a reverse in a scratch match, notwithstanding the fact that he has been on the mat almost every week. None of his opponents have stood any chance against him. This fact was the prime factor in the attempt to secure for him a match with Frank Gotch, the undefeated world's champion, who has been in retirement for more than a year. Gotch agreed to throw Santel twice within an hour but declined to go on at the eleventh hour, pleading lack of condition as his excuse.

Unless the promoters and wrestlers themselves bring the sport into discredit by quarrels and unsportsmanlike conduct, it is generally believed that the game has an unusual opportunity of again being brought to the front in California. Santel has done much to popularize it here. Wrestling among professionals has been given so many black eyes in the past by shady tactics that the public will have to be handled with gloves and given an absolutely square deal by the promoters. It is felt that the first questionable bout imposed on the public will sound the death knell of wrestling as a substitute for boxing. The game again is on trial, so to speak.

The remarkable revival in gun club activities that has been apparent in all parts of the country of late has spread to the gentler sex. The Dianas of Portland have accepted the challenge issued by the women shooters of Spokane for a series of telegraph matches which are being held in the northwest. Among the Portland ninnyrds is Mrs. Ada Schilling, who was high woman shooter in the United States last year. Inclement weather in the past precluded the necessary amount of practice and the women have not been making the usual good scores of which they are capable in the shooting done thus far.

Golden estate and applied on debts owing by the bank exceeded the principal of all sums due the bank by Mr. Golden. At the conclusion of the hearing the court ordered the receiver to make the settlement immediately.

HOME INDUSTRY IGNORED. Considerable agitation was started this week among Carson business men over a report, which as yet has not been confirmed, that Warden Dickerson has placed an order for shoes for the convicts with a California institution and has purchased underwear for the prisoners from different eastern concerns. The capital business men take the position that the orders, if not placed in Carson, should have been given to some Nevada dealer.
